

CHARTFEST Recording Studios Open Day – Sunday 5 May 2013

The CHARTFEST Recording Studios Open day is a rare chance to see inside three of Christchurch's newest recording studios and talk to some of the city's top studio engineers.

On Sunday 5 May Quicksand Recording Studios, Angels Gate Recording Studio and Riverside Sound will open their doors from 12pm - 3pm allowing the public a glimpse inside at where all the magic happens. With live bands in studio, hear and see the difference a professional studio can make to your recordings and ask the questions you've always wanted answered from the industry professionals.

Quicksand Recording Studios - 31 Southwark Street, Christchurch.

Quicksand Recording Studios is the South Island's world-class recording facility. Catering to music, radio and film post-production, Quicksand has been purpose-built to accommodate and faithfully realise your project with the utmost professionalism and skill.

Angels Gate Recording Studio - 8 Stanley Street, Sydenham, Christchurch.

Angels Gate Recording Studio was opened in Sydenham in March of 2011 by producer Kevin Allison who also brings to the studio many years of experience in the music and recording industry and is dedicated to providing New Zealand's wealth of musical talent a great place to make world class music.

Riverside Sound - 51A Fifield Terrace, Opawa, Christchurch.

Riverside Sound Recording Studio is the culmination of a lifetime's interest in music and a vision to create a studio capable of providing an environment for artists and audio engineers in which to relax, have fun and produce inspiring music.
