

Always My Sister

A PLAY BY

Michelanne Forster

A story of love and violence, poverty and vengeance. A rehearsed reading with Lauren Gibson, Laura Daniels and Paul Barrett.

Maggie Reardon was the first and only woman in New Zealand to be transported to a Female Factory in Tasmania for perjury. Why would she protect a cold-blooded murderer? Based on a true story in 1840s Auckland, Michelanne Forster's new play was written while she held the University Residency at the Michael King Writers' Centre. The reading is followed by the launch of a limited-edition book of the play published by The Holloway Press.

When: Wednesday November 6, 2013, 5.30 pm
Followed by the book launch, 6.30 to 7.30 pm

Where: The University of Auckland Drama Studio,
Arts I (Bldg 206), Level 3 (ground floor)
Entry from 14a Symonds Street, Auckland

Cost: Free, but numbers will be limited

RSVP: assistant@writerscentre.org.nz
Ph: 09 445 8451