Personal Profile

The principles of human rights and dignity, respect for worth of all people attracted me to the Social Work profession because its values aligned with my mine. Being a member of the New Zealand Labour Party is a natural commitment. I value the role of Manager at Child Youth and Family in Otahuhu; it has added value to my skills in leadership, understanding of diversity in our communities and how I can contribute to make a positive contribution in Aotearoa New Zealand. I'm married with Utufiu Suisuiki we have four children with three grandchildren.
